National Institutes of Health	NIH Directors Opportunity for Research in Five Thematic Areas (RC4) RFA-OD-10-005	Applications solicited from one or more of the following five thematic areas: Applying Genomics and Other High Throughput Technologies Translating Basic Science Discoveries into New and Better Treatments Using Science to Enable Health Care Reform Focusing on Global Health Reinvigorating the Biomedical Research Community. This program will support projects that will benefit from significant three-year funds without the expectation of continued NIH funding beyond this period. $80 million	http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/rfa-files/RFA-OD-10-005.html	03/15/10	University may apply
U.S. Department of Education	Model development and dissemination grants program-Arts in Education	The Arts in Education Model Development and Dissemination (AEMDD) Program supports the enhancement, expansion, documentation, evaluation, and dissemination of innovative, cohesive models that are based on research and have demonstrated that they effectively—(1) Integrate standards- based arts education into the core elementary and middle school curriculum; (2) strengthen standards-based arts instruction in these grades; and (3) improve students' academic performance, including their skills in creating, performing, and responding to the arts. Letter of intent is strongly encouraged by 2/16/2010.	http://www2.ed.gov/programs/artsedmodel/applicant.html	03/16/10	University may apply
National Institutes of Health	Behavioral Economics for Nudging the Implementation of Comparative Effectiveness Research: Pilot Research (RC4) RFA-OD-10-002	This funding opportunity seeks applications that will investigate whether the principles of behavioral economics could be used to enhance the uptake of the results CER among health care providers and also enhance the maintenance of such treatments in patient populations. The behavioral economics approach is inclusive, since at its heart it tries to take into account what is known about how people actually make behavioral decisions rather than relying on the assumption that economic agents are fundamentally rational in the sense of expected utility theory (see, e.g.,Kahneman and Tverskys (1979) work on Prospect Theory and Kahnemans (2003) Nobel lecture). $5 million for up to 10 awards ($500K award ceiling)	http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/rfa-files/RFA-OD-10-002.html	03/19/10	University may apply

National Institutes of Health	Framework Programs for Global Health Signature Innovations Initiative (R24)	Grant to enhance the infrastructure and opportunities at the participating institutions for training postdoctoral investigators to carry out innovative, multidisciplinary research in Global Health. The initiative emphasizes hands on, problem solving, and collaborative approaches and may require the development of new training models and new partnerships within and beyond the university community. $2.7 million available, $250,000 max per grant.	http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/rfa-files/RFA-OD-10-007.html	03/22/10	University may apply
National Institutes of Health	Program to Enhance NIH-supported Global Health Research Involving Human Subjects (S07)	Grant for one year of support for resources and activities that will strengthen oversight of NIH supported human subjects research conducted collaboratively with institutions in low- to middle-income countries (LMIC).	http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/rfa-files/RFA-OD-10-006.html	03/22/10	University may apply
U.S. Department of Education	Teaching American History	The Teaching American History Grant (TAH) Program supports projects that aim to raise student achievement by improving teachers' knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of traditional American history. Grant awards assist local educational agencies (LEAs), in partnership with entities that have extensive content expertise, in developing, implementing, documenting, evaluating, and disseminating innovative, cohesive models of professional development. Letter of intent is strongly encouraged by 2/22/2010.	http://www2.ed.gov/programs/teachinghistory/applicant.html	03/22/10	Partnership Opportunity
U.S. Department of Education	Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowships Program	The NRC Program makes awards to institutions of higher education or consortia of institutions of higher education to establish or strengthen nationally recognized foreign language and area or international studies centers or programs. NRC awards are used to support undergraduate centers or comprehensive centers, which include undergraduate, graduate, and professional school components.	http://www2.ed.gov/programs/iegpsflasf/applicant.html	03/23/10	University may apply
